Grammatical Range and accuracy (GRA)

Let's read some vocabulary:

Adjectives to describe books and films:

- action-packed: full of action. My brother loves action-packed movies. Probably that's why his favourite film is "Terminator".
 - addictive: a book or film that you quickly become addicted to. "Harry Potter" series by Joanne Rowling are so addictive! I couldn't stop after the first book and read all volumes.
 - creepy: producing a sensation of uneasiness or fear, scary. Noah finds Stephen King's stories creepy.
 - dreary: gloomy or depressing. I can't stand dramas, thrillers and other dreary movies.
 - entertaining: funny and enjoyable. Comedies are very entertaining.
 - futuristic: telling about the future. "Star Wars" movie is futuristic and dynamic.
 - heartbreaking: that breaks your heart and evokes sad emotions. When my aunt watched "Titanic" she cried all day! It's such a heartbreaking film.
 - inspirational: evoking inspiration.
- intense: a book or film loaded with actions and emotions that evokes strong feelings. The play's plot was very intense. Just a minute after a couple had a quarrel in the forest, the secret lover appeared and started a fire-fight.

- tear-jerking: tragic, making you cry. My sister is very emotional. I would rather watch a comedy with her than a tear-jerking movie!
- thought-provoking: a book or film that makes you think of new ideas or that changes your attitude to something. Ray Bradbury's novel "Fahrenheit 451" is deeply thought-provoking. I had to rethink my attitude to legislation and censorship after I read it.

Advanced vocabulary:

- action movie: film with fast moving scenes, often containing violence. Last week I saw a great action movie with my brother at our local movie theatre.
- bedtime reading: a book you read in your bed before going to sleep. I'm really addicted to books! I can't even fall asleep without an hour of bedtime reading.
- box office hit: a very successful movie, in terms of money. The new movie might be a box office hit, but I didn't like it at all.
- e-reader: a gadget for reading books. My e-reader broke a few days ago, so now I'll need to fix it or buy a new one.
- from cover to cover: from the first page to the last. I am a slow reader so it takes me a lot of time to read a book from cover to cover.
- hardcover: a book with hard cover. Opposite to softcover. My friend gave me a hardcover book as a present for my birthday.
- page turner: a book which is so good that you cannot stop reading it. My sister recommended me a great book. It was such a page turner that I read it in one day!
- plot: a storyline of a book or film.
