To whom it may concern

It is with great pleasure that I compose this letter of recommendation for Mr. Hasan, who is seeking admission to the PhD program at your esteemed institution.

Over the past three years, I have closely witnessed Mr. Hasan's growth during his involvement in the humanitarian response at the Rohingya Refugee Camp in Cox's Bazar, Bangladesh. Serving initially as a Management Information System (MIS) officer at Partners in Health and Development in 2021, he swiftly transitioned to the role of a Health Information System (HIS) officer at the renowned international organization, Food for the Hungry. His dedication, hard work, and innovative mindset contributed to this rapid advancement. As the Monitoring and Evaluation Officer at Greenhill-Community Partners International, I had the privilege of being his colleague when he joined us as a Monitoring Evaluation Officer last year. In his current role, Mr. Hasan actively participates in program monitoring and evaluation, along with supporting various research activities.

Mr. Hasan distinguishes himself as an exceptionally organized and self-motivated individual with strong communication skills. His ability to perform effectively under pressure and meet deadlines, coupled with his leadership skills, sets him apart. Possessing design thinking capabilities, he can critically analyze issues, anticipate challenges, and proactively devise solutions. Notably, his honesty and accountability, even for minor mistakes, underscore his integrity.

His capacity to motivate and lead a team to deliver their best showcases his outstanding qualities. Mr. Hasan exhibits a keen interest in new ideas and demonstrates prudent decision-making after a thorough understanding of the situation. His remarkable qualities make him an individual I would appreciate and admire even in a supervisory role.

I wholeheartedly recommend Mr. Hasan for admission to your esteemed university's PhD program, believing that the in-depth knowledge he will gain in management systems can be instrumental in benefiting the subject, institution, community, and broader society. I anticipate witnessing his continued growth as higher education opportunities at your world-class institution will undoubtedly add a new dimension to his career.
